State Spotlights

In 2016, six California cities ranked among the top 25 in the country for the number of ENERGY STAR certified buildings: Los Angeles (2nd), San Francisco (3rd), San Diego, Riverside, San Jose, and Sacramento. Collectively, these buildings saved over $460 million in energy costs.

CalPortland Company (Glendora, CA), a diversified building materials and construction solutions provider, has improved its energy intensity by 15.6% for a cumulative savings of $96 million since 2003, earning ENERGY STAR certification at two of its plants.

AT&T (El Segundo, CA) delivered more than 10 million ENERGY STAR certified receivers in 2015, which have the highest level of efficiency among all pay-television boxes, saving customers 420 million kilowatt hours and $55 million each year.

"We have successfully leveraged the resources provided by the ENERGY STAR program to reduce our energy consumption, and thereby reduce our costs. The ENERGY STAR awards are coveted; being judged and evaluated by an official, independent party adds significantly to their prestige." – Allen Hamblen, President and CEO, CalPortland
